NOTIFICATION -22

Nowadays, the new international socio-economic policies of the developed and developing countries are focussing upon self-reliance. It is taken here to mean autonomy of decision making and full mobilisation of a society's own resources under its own initiative and direction. The most important element of self-reliance in India is the formulation of concepts and policies of development based on our own socio-economic realities. The self-reliance model has clear and important functions and it remains an alternative development strategy that requires proper planning and understanding. However, our limitations can create obstructions because the development strategy will be reflecting the policies; but it is not possible to create the environment of healthy work-culture without proper understanding of local conditions, development strategies and adoptability of new trends. The New Education Policy 2020 is an attempt to focus upon the self-reliance through adoptability of new trends, conducive work-culture and holistic development.

Keeping in mind, the multi-disciplinary trends in higher education, it needs a regular training to update the faculty members. It will help them to understand the adoptability of new trends and work-culture for development through self-reliance model. The world of education is changing continuously and to cater the need of students in this scenario, the teachers must be updated and refreshed regularly through the different Faculty Development Programs as these play noteworthy role in the development of nations enhancing skills and grooming devoted human resource for self-reliance. A Refresher course is a second level training programme for the teachers who have already undertaken Orientation/Induction training.

Nowadays, Refresher Programmes are geared across the disciplines to enable the participants of different fields to work together for the development of societies in particular and the nations in general. This has been a central focus of the New Education Policy. As a matter of fact, faculty members are waiting to upgrade them with the proper training for self-reliance models involving various disciplines to prepare a strategy for proper development. Thus, a teacher and researcher through his mentors must be updated about the emerging concepts and trends across the disciplines so as competent and updated knowledge can be disseminated to the upcoming generations and can reach to the society aptly.

Keeping above mentioned point in mind, Faculty Development Centre (FDC), HNB Garhwal University, established under the PMMMNMTT scheme of MHRD, Govt. of India, is organizing an Online Refresher course entitled "Multidisciplinary approaches for Adoptability, Development and Self-Reliance (Scientific, Socio-Economic, Psycho-cognitive and Moral Perspectives)" during August 19 to September 01, 2020.
